

BUILDING UNDER CONSTRUCTION

LUXURY WITHOUT LIMITS

SOPHISTICATED MODERN LIVING

This cleverly crafted home designed by Zeno Entity and built by Building Under Construction is the answer to contemporary living. With the grey stone flowing throughout the house, from the floor to the bathroom vanities to kitchen benchtops, no detail of the project was missed. The large living space, saturated with natural light, beautifully complements the modern and sleek kitchen, which features generous bench and utility space.

The brief requested a unique and luxurious home with a detailed focus on quality. In response Building Under Construction focussed on incorporating exceptional statement pieces. With large pendant lights located in the front entrance and a wine cellar nestled below the stairs, the home offers elegance and grandeur while showcasing the best of current trends.

As the property is located on a small block, Building Under Construction worked hard to ensure the home would comprise expansive interiors, as well as a sizeable outdoor living space, which features a strip of lawn, an alfresco dining area and a lap pool.

The curved wall at the front of the house is a modern feature of brilliant craftsmanship, as is the high fence that surrounds the lot. With a soothing sense of privacy, the home is a luxury retreat with all the fittings of a well-constructed family abode.

Since establishing Building Under Construction, Andrew Hingston has had great success specialising in architecturally designed, beautiful homes. With more than 10 years of experience in the industry, Hingston and his team build mainly in inner-east Melbourne. With an in-house property stylist who guides clients through the design aspects of the build on the team, Building Under Construction understands the importance of creating exceptionally crafted, functional homes that are perfected down to the finest detail.
